

Echoing Hills Village – Ghana

ANIMAL HUSBANDRY PROGRAM

For the average Ghanaian with disabilities, educational and vocational opportunities are largely inaccessible. Instead, many of these folks are relegated to a life of begging for food and money.

FOR $100, YOU CAN SPONSOR A NEW CAGE AND ONE GRASS-CUTTER!

Residents and staff of Echoing Hills Village, Ghana operate an animal husbandry program. They produce livestock to feed themselves along with selling animals in the marketplace to help financially support their home. However, the program needs to grow to stay viable. The expansion would include building 15 metal cages and purchasing 15 grass-cutters for breeding and selling offspring to the market.

Our goal is to provide individuals with disabilities a home and to equip and empower them to help support the place they call home.
